

Old Maltby Homestead, Northford, Conn.

The old Maltby homestead shown in the photograph was the resident of John Maltby (5), born December 8, 1768. He was a son of Samuel 3d and Rosanna Coe—and descended from Samuel (2)—the photograph of whose tombstone appears on page 70.

This homestead is typical of the old New England houses, now becoming so rare.

We are indebted to Miss Mary J. Maltby, of Northford, for this artistic photograph, as well as the one of Capt. Samuel's (2) tombstone, and consider that we were particularly fortunate in securing this picture of the only old Maltby homestead left standing in Northford.

The homestead descended to Samuel Chauncey (6) Maltby who married Ruth Collins in 1819. He died in 1829, and his widow lived here alone after her husband's death. The place used to be called "the Ruth Maltby place." The homestead was afterwards sold to W. Tucker.
