

THE ENGLISH RESEARCH.

Early in the year the Association took steps to start the research work in England. Three reliable persons were recommended and after some correspondence it seemed best to give the task to Mr. Gerald Fothergill. His estimates were no higher than those received from the other parties, and his previous work seemed to especially fit him for our needs. Mr. Fothergill is the author of "List of Emigrant Ministers to America;" "Calendar of Feet of Fines for Essex;" "Histories of Unwin and Scott Families," etc. His "Emigrants to America—How to Trace their English Ancestry" is a most helpful booklet, recently published in Vol. I. Of "The Genealogist's Pocket Library." Mr. Fothergill's "Emigrants from England" which appears in the current issue of "The New England Historical and Genealogical Register" will be found very helpful to those whose ancestors emigrated about 1774.

In April we sent ten pounds ($48.70) to Mr. Fothergill with which to commence the research.

For this sum we received abstracts of Maltby wills at York from 1636-1700, and Maltby wills in Perrogative Court of Canterbury 1650-1719.

These wills have been carefully gone over, and we find only one which could fit in with the dates, etc., of our emigrant ancestor. This will does seem to dovetail in every particular. It is the will of John Maltby, of East Retford, Co. Nottingham, Alderman. Dated 6 Oct. 1647—Codicil 28 Dec., 1647.

We give this will on page 79—also will of John's brother Robert Maltby, of Bawtry, Yorks., and lastly the will of Robert's son, William Maltby, Gent.

In this will of John's we find him living just over the Yorkshire border, an Alderman—which we understand was at this period a post of some honor. We learn from lands and so forth mentioned in his will that he was fairly wealthy. We also learn that his sons Jon and William were in their "nonage"—hence under 21 years of age. From Robert's will we learn that the child of John born about Dec. 1647, was named Ro. —or Robert. Also we learn that as John Maltby's will was filed in April, 1648, he died leaving young children. We insert a pedigree made from the three wills given above, and a careful study of them will show what strong circumstantial evidence there is that we have found the parentage of our emigrant ancestors—John and William Maltby.
